PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Communications strategist and creative director with 15+ years building brands that people actually talk about. My background spans hospitality, F&B, luxury lifestyle, and digital-first consumer brands — always working at the intersection of storytelling, media, and audience behavior. I've developed brand identities from scratch, directed social and content strategy that generated millions of organic impressions, and managed client relationships that demanded both strategic thinking and hands-on execution. I write, I pitch, I lead teams, and I know what makes a story land. Bilingual English / Spanish, Miami native.
